Get Out And Vote Next Tuesday

Precinct bounderies and polling places for Tuesday's election are shown above. Any questions should be referred to the city clerk's office.

THE PINE CONE RECOMMENDS . . .

GET OUT AND VOTE ON TUESDAY!

The PINE CONE, after having examined the qualifications and assertions of all candidates seeking office in next Tuesday's general municipal election, respectfully submits the following recommendations for your consideration.

First of all, vote YES on the proposal to acquire Sunset School. No matter what the final utilization of the property may be, we believe the property should be acquired now, when we have the opportunity to buy it without any increase in taxes. We can discuss usage later.

For city council, we vigorously recommend that you vote to re-elect Eben Whittlesey. We affirm there is no better candidate. Beyond this, we offer no further recommendations.

For city clerk—The City is extremely fortunate to have Hugh Bayless available to it. He has dealt very well with the city's business and we urge you to support him with your vote.

For city treasurer—Sam Coleman brings to the post he now occupies a blend of experience and talents that make him uniquely qualified. Futhermore, he has demonstrated, through his handling of the city's time deposits, an ability to make the city's funds more profitable to the taxpayers of Carmel. We fervently hope that Sam will serve us in his present capacity for the rest of his natural life.

GET OUT AND VOTE ON TUESDAY!

Candidates State Their Views At All Saints Episcopal Church

There is little apathy in Carmel about next Tuesday's election if the interest shown at last Monday's Candidates' Night at All Saints' Episcopal Church is any indication.

Over 150 persons heard all aspirants to city offices tell why they felt they should be elected. Sponsored by the Carmel Business Association, the meeting was moderated by James R. Nielsen.

Each candidate was given five minutes in which to make his beliefs known. Summarized, the statements were as follows:

WHITTLESEY — The mayor emphasized the accomplishments of the present city council and his part in them.

DANYSH—As a resident dedicated to the Carmel way of life he would "Hear with a sensitive ear the problems of the business community."

"Doublethink" At Council's Last Session

It was probably fitting that last night's council meeting, the last regular session of the current council, got deeply involved in a discussion of non-Euclidian, differential double-think. The audience, by the time Councilman Herb Blanks finished with his dissertation on gas tax revenues and how they could be applied to the improvement of Junipero between Fourth and Ocean, was just as confused as most of the council seemed to be. It was asserted that somehow the work should be completed, paid for by gas tax revenues and all this, hopefully by July 1.

At the time set aside for public appearances, after no one had come forward, Mayor Eben Whittlesey took umbrage at some remarks made last Monday night by former city councilman Gunnar Norberg, to the effect that the council was remiss in not summarily removing a man who was an elected public servant, referring to Larry Rose.

"It must be reiterated and reemphasized," the mayor said, "that the city clerk may not be removed or suspended except by a recall action initiated by the public or by a court impeachment which must be based on palpable evidence of misconduct or mishandling of public affairs." No one present seemed

City Seeks Historian, Due To PINE CONE Suggestion

Carmel is looking for a city historian.

Last night the city council, upon a suggestion from the PINE CONE, agreed to seek a person who would be interested in recording the history of this city. It was decided that it should probably be an older resident of the city, who might have personal knowledge of the events that occurred and recognize their significance.

Following is the letter from the PINE CONE which initiated the action:

February 21, 1964

City Council,
City of Carmel-by-the-Sea,
P. O. Box CC,
Carmel, California.

Gentlemen: As most of you are probably aware, the Carmel Pine Cone has in its offices a complete set of bound volumes containing every issue of the paper since it was begun over 49 years ago on February 3, 1915. These volumes contain a record of most of the happenings that occurred during those years, so important in the formation of our city as it now exists.

In addition, much of the cultural tradition of Carmel-by-the-Sea is reflected or recorded in these pages. Names like Robinson Jeffers and Perry Newberry are on these pages; some are illustrated by Cunningham and others graced by the poems of George Sterling.

The Pine Cone is proud of the part it has played in making our city what it is today, and those of us who today are stewards of this

No. 50

No person has a vested right to NOT to make a living, and none has yet attained a height too tall to be forgiving. No citizen with dignity denies his country's call; this is the price of liberty — the right to give his all.

When each election time arrives, and men stand up for counting, if liberty at all survives, this is no time for pouting. No person of maturity has right to be NOT voting, lest personal security far out to sea goes floating.

America needs ev'ry day each man to do his duty; and voting is the right to say our town preserves its beauty. Remember! Liberty must stand or die if we're the goat of apathy. God help our land if YOU neglect to vote!

DOWN TO THE SEA

BY LES BOSSHARDT, Master Mariner

"I must go down to the seas again,
To the lonely sea and the sky." — MASEFIELD

THE SUN IN ARIES

On March 21, as always, the sun was on the equator thereby ushering in spring to the northern hemisphere. Today, Tuesday, April 7, was the first day this fact was brought home to this sailor. Looking out of my bedroom window this morning there were birds aplenty feeding from the bird house that is triced up on a gantline, passed over the trunk of the big oak tree hard by my window. Not only were they feeding but some, recent brides I think, were attacking the frayed end of a piece of rope, teasing out the yarns to be used, no doubt, in the building of a nest. From the Pilot House looking over the smooth waters of the Bay the courting rings of the sea lions could be seen, to complete the yarn of the visible signs of spring I observed a pod of grey whales standing to the south on their long migration to the Scammon Lagoon on the shores of the west coast of Baja California. Convinced spring is here?

TARGET BOATER

Now and then a legislator, either state or national, will make a long-winded talk on the licensing of the Boater after an examination, this to make the waters safe for all people who would use them. Sounds reasonable at first blush, but how in the world will the beginning boater ever pass an examination without first gaining sufficient knowledge? If the advocates of licensing would but stop long enough to learn themselves that know-how is safety and set up in the high schools of the country courses in overall navigation tailored to the pleasure boater and make these courses uniform, I am sure that the accident rate afloat would drop to a very low level. These classes could be held at night, the same as adult courses are held, and have the minimum age limit take in those from, say, 15 years of age. The reason most of the advocates of licensing are so set in their ways is, they are looking at boating through the eyes of the landsman and not the sailor. I would call the attention of these people to the fact that what will work for the motorist ashore will not work for the boater afloat. There is no similarity between a car and a boat or the people who operate them. I am aware of the classes held in this country by the U.S. Power Squadrons and the Coast Guard Auxiliary units and I know they are doing a fine job, however a state-sponsored school, in my opinion, would reach more people and train them in the way the state would want them trained.

POISED IN BRISTOL FASHION

Most of the commercial boats who will be on the salmon fishing grounds early Wednesday morning, April 15, are in Bristol fashion with their fishing gear clear for running. Now there is just one more thing to do and that is to make sure the compass is right. Without the compass or a knowledge of its errors and their applications, the fisher skipper would do well to stay tied up at his slip. Most of the skippers know this that is why Captain Lou Ames can be seen almost any day boarding a boat with his small black bag and pelorus in hand. The Captain is the local compass adjuster and he is going aboard to cure a sick compass. The compass in question may have abnormal errors in it and it is this compass expert's job to remove all of this error possible and acquaint the fishing skipper with all that is left. Quite an involved process. With his compass adjusted the Fish Skipper can sally forth in confidence.

Because there is a weather stabilizing process taking place over the area hereabout, the two week end days Saturday and Sunday should be clear with a northwesterly wind in the 20-knot bracket. Possible early morning and evening fog conditions both days. Morning fog clearing by midday.

Wind IN THE Pines

BY DON MARSHALL

Last week Lars Svendsgaard was telling about the man who, when he checked in at Svendsgaard's Lodge, asked if credit cards were accepted there. He was told no, but he checked in anyhow.

The next day when the guest got ready to check out he said he would certainly like to stay longer, but that he coulda't unless Lars would honor his credit card.

Lars said he was sorry, he just couldn't, but he would take a personal check. With that the man looked startled.

"Oh I couldn't do that," he said. "My account is overdrawn."

The Palace on Cannery Row has a sign which reads: Magyar should go Farr as a senator.

—O—

Which reminds me, David Walton now has the Palace open as an eatery. The chef's name doesn't mean anything when I say it is Dythel Stevens, but everybody surely remembers Stevie's Delicatessen which used to be across from Purity here.

Anyhow, at the Palace Stevie is brewing up the most delectable food, and the tab is only $2.50 a head, including wine.

You don't get any choice as to what you will eat, but you know it will be sensational.

Prepare to Pop to the Pops Concert April 19

Hootenanny too, is promised at the Monterey County Symphony Pops concert to be held at the County Fairgrounds on Sunday, April 19. A special sing-one-sing-all feature of the program will be the Univ. of California quartette who will sing contagious ditties as they twang their stringed instruments.

Symphony Conductor John Gosling will definitely desert the realms of classic and operatic tunes for marches, ballads and favorites from new and not so new musicals.

The Pops concert is a community project, including representatives of the army, navy, Monterey Peninsula College, private and public schools. British Motors of Monterey will lend a car for the occasion.

Pops Day is an all out family day. The concert starts at 2 p.m., but long before the opening note groups are planning to 'picnic' on the scene.

Members of the Symphony Guild who are working with Mrs. Frank E. Ringland, Guild president, 'round the clock toward the day's success, include: Mesdames Fred Fry, Charles O'Gara, Folsom Niebel, Rody Holt, V. Bunting and Clyde Young. Also Mesdames Marie Davies, James Moore, Barbara Stone, Sally Stotler, Jimmy Hatlo, Philip H. Smith and Kenneth Ehrman.

Tickets, $1.00 each, are available at Abinante's in Monterey, Dyke's Pharmacy in Pacific Grove, Graham Music Company and Central Box Office in Carmel, The Music Box at the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center, and Gadsby's Music Store in Salinas.

'Finian's Rainbow' a Delightful Success

For an evening of nostalgic delight, beautiful music, color and youthful exuberance we recommend "Finian's Rainbow." The ambitious un-cut presentation of the romantic musical that ran for many months on New York's Broadway, opened last Thursday in Sunset School Auditorium. The two final performances will be tomorrow and Saturday nights and it is not to be missed!

"Finian's Rainbow" with a cast of about 100 teen-agers, is a triumph for the pupils of Carmel Junior High School, who had, to be sure, a bit of help from the school's drama coach, Miss Diana Hardy, director, set designer and wardrobe coordinator.

Fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers, aunts and uncles, in fact everyone in the opening matinee audience who had a spark of romance, sat spellbound through the play's two acts and ten scenes. Tho they may have lacked in experience and smoothness the young actors and actresses gave vitality and enthusiasm that many a jaded stage star lacks.

To tell you the story would be shameful. The cast at Sunset deserves to do its own telling. But we will reveal that there is a leprechaun, a pot of gold and Irish humor as well as misty-eyed romance. There is a lesson to be learned too. A lesson that concerns us all in the world of today.

It would be difficult to select stars in Junior High's performance. The leads alternate and many a bit performer comes shining through.

Particularly beautiful was the music, directed by William Purdy. Such hits as "How Are Things in Glocca Morro"; "Look to the Rainbow"; "Old Devil Moon" and "Idle Poor" won rounds of applause.

Dale Lefler's choreography added much to the 'professional' success of "Finian's Rainbow."

Alas, lack of space prevents us from listing the large cast. We congratulate all concerned. We hope there will be another Carmel Junior High School production, and soon! —C.E.

Support For Sunset Acquisition Bonds Grows As Citizens Express Opinions

At its noon meeting yesterday the Carmel Rotary Club voted to endorse the city's planned acquisition of Sunset School and urged all those who were qualified to vote for the bonds.

In recent days several other groups and individuals have made endorsements of the plan. They are as follows:

Carmel Planning Commission: Dorothy von Meier (Mrs. Julien) Chairman:

The designation of the Sunset School Site for a Community Center has been a part of Carmel's Master Plan for nearly ten years; and its acquisition received the first priority in the Planning Commission's recent Capital Outlay Recommendations Program.

This is a once in a lifetime opportunity for Carmel to acquire a centrally located property without either condemnation or removal from the tax rolls.

Development will enhance both the surrounding residential and commercial areas and will be one in which Carmel will take pride.

Carmel Art Association:

The Board of Directors of the Carmel Art Association unanimously approves and endorses the purchase of Sunset School by the City of Carmel, as a community and cultural center on the Monterey Peninsula.

Mrs. Phyllis Appleton

Graduated from Sunset School when it was a two room school house with four grades in each room. Her three sons, DeWitt, Micheal and Garry are also graduates. Mrs. Appleton's father, Wm. Overstreet, founded the PINE CONE (1915) and was also the Carmel Postmaster. Mrs. Appleton says, "I think it is extremely important that Sunset be purchased by the city and maintained as a community and cultural center."

Mrs. Eben Whittlesey

Graduate of the class of '27 at Sunset School. Daughter Deborah was in class of '62. Her father Fredrick Bigland, was chairman of the Carmel School Board when the present auditorium was built (1930). Mrs. Whittlesey says: "I would hate to think of Carmel without its Music Society or Bach Festival and that is what would happen if we had no auditorium. This is a wonderful opportunity for Carmel to keep its auditorium, acquiring at the same time a community and cultural center with no increase in taxes. I would also hate to see the two blocks in the middle of town which Sunset School now occupies, become a commercial housing development which could easily happen if the property is sold to a private individual or company."

Mrs. Roderick N. Wilson

Mrs. Wilson graduated from Sunset in '29. Her daughter Nicki was in the class of '56 and her other daughter Sherri in the class of '60. Mrs. Wilson says: "It is imperative that the purchase of Sunset School should not be by-passed by the city of Carmel. This is our last opportunity to acquire a large, centrally located piece of property without condemnation proceedings. The cultural heritage to which all Carmel youngsters are entitled may be further insured by having Sunset School for use as an art and civic center. This property should be for Carmelites and saved from the ravages of further commercialism. It is my sincere hope that the voters will recognize this bargain and vote 'YES' on the bond issue April 14."

Barbara Norris Stars in "Annie Get Your Gun"

Smashing good theater happened on the Peninsula last weekend, the only sad note being that the colossal presentation of "Annie Get Your Gun" was limited to just four performances.

A presentation of the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School, produced by Lt. Comdr. John Boles and directed by Mrs. Rhea Diveley, the rip roaring musical drew packed houses and thunderous applause from navy audiences plus those lucky few 'outsiders' who could get tickets.

The all-navy cast of 75 with a magnificent assist from the 12th Naval District Band under the baton of Lt. (j.g.) G. Bowen, romped through nine scenes and 24 musical numbers with truly professional aplomb.

As "Annie Oakley" the gal with the gun, Barbara Norris shouted, made eyes, went moon-struck sentimental and warbled ballads. At odd moments she shot pigeons on the wing, danced and strutted in a tattered smock, a demure "1890" frock, a fringed wild west ensemble. Midway through the show she 'floated' on stage with elegant finesse — in an elegant formal, of course.

For this reviewer, who had seen both the stage and motion picture stars (Merman and Hutton) in the role, our local favorite, Barbara Norris, was terrific!

Annie's love, "Frank Butler," played by Michael Shortal was a real heart stopper, all six feet plus. Mr. Shortal has a delightful voice, he's mighty, mighty handsome and he performed with experienced ease.

Of the many principals (I regret I can't write about all of them) outstanding characterizations were given by John Boles as Circus man "Charlie Davenport"; Harry N. Lyon as "Buffalo Bill"; William Norris as "Chief Sitting Bull" and C. J. Dougherty as "Pawnee Bill."

The children, Annie's three sisters and a pair identified as Little Boy and Little Girl, really lived their stage characters with gusto.

Special tribute must be paid Choreographer Dale Lefler. The beautiful ensemble numbers, one following the other, were climaxed by the Adoption Dance, and American Indian ballet of rare beauty with Larry Akins the solo dancer. Visually and technically it was the high point of the evening.

The song hits of "Annie Get Your Gun" have lived through two decades. As the famous Navy Band (augmented by four violinists and one cellist of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra) 'belted' out such favorites as "The Girl That I Marry"; "You Can't Get a Man With a Gun"; "They Say It's Wonderful";; "Anything You Can Do" and "Show Business." The enthralled audience tapped toes softly and applauded thunderously.

We give our best salute to the Navy Post Graduate School thespians and a top-side bow to Rhea Diveley for her superb directing.

And Now a Lady Is As Smart As Her Wig

Something new under the Carmel sun! A wig party—not to be confused with a Beetle bender!!

The patio of Lincoln Lane was alight with sunshine and literally bursting with music on Sunday afternoon when guests at a very unusual reception sipped punch and nibbled pastries at the open house of the brand new Wig and Cosmetics Shop.

Host and hostess Ron and Joellen Bonincontri greeted half a hundred guests and introduced them to the mysteries of wig wearing and care.

We learned that all JoLino Wigs are handmade with human hair; that they can be re-styled by the owner and also dry cleaned with a special (and available) preparation. All wigs in the tiny Lincoln Lane shop are by JoLino and range from $139 to $500. Particularly dramatic at Sunday's party was fashion designer Suzanne in an exquisite ensemble of white fur (cloth) with a beautifully coiffed wig to match. Joellen and her attractive young assistant both wore blonde wigs. We could only be sure that they were wigs, by asking.

Whether you are seeking 'round the clock glamour and respite from hours at the hair dresser's, or an entirely new and different head of hair, you will find a visit to Holiday House in Lincoln Lane an adventure in fun and enlightenment.

M.P.V.S. Honors Thrift Shop Aides

When the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services held their regular membership meeting at the U.S.O. on Friday, Mrs. Charles M. Jett, president, asked for an expression of appreciation from the members for the many extra hours of work, the workers in the "back room" at the Thrift Shop had contributed during the past month.

Net profits from the shop at 785 Broadway, Seaside will be given to the Children's Home Society as a result of the concerted efforts by both organizations during the month of April. Anyone wishing to contribute to the success of this project can arrange for donations to be picked up by phoning Ex 4-5028 or 373-3239.

$1,775 to cover the cost of scholarships in the areas of art, science and humanities was approved as a donation to the Council for Gifted Students. A gift of $900, also to cover the cost of three scholarships for the period of one year at Gateway Center was approved.

The treasurer's report, presented by Mrs. Minna Goodwin was followed by a detailed account of earnings at the shop by Mrs. Mary Thomas. Mrs. S. Y. Cutler, refering to herself as "Captain of the Captains" who staff the sales force, emphasized the need for additional workers in the capacity of sales personnel and substitute workers.

Mrs. A. Boyd Newborn presented a request from the Monterey History and Art Association, asking that each member donate a sterling silver teaspoon to the Association; the gift to be considered an individual donation.

The chairman of the Garden Selection Committee for the 13th Annual Garden Tour, Mrs. Lawrence Kinsler, reported on the work of her committe in selecting gardens from the "Mesa to the Meadows" to be shown on July 15th. Mrs. Esther Williams reported on the sale of advertising and Mrs. L. K. Purcell on the preparation of garden descriptions to be included in the brochure. Mrs. Purcell is being assisted by Mrs. Gregory Hughes. Mrs. Charles H. Conley, project administrator deferred to Mrs. R. W. Scheffler, Garden Tour Chairman in calling for committee reports.

Yates Downes in the leading role in the Parish Players production of "Boy With a Cart," Christopher Fry's verse drama, to be presented in All Saints Episcopal Church on the evenings of April 10-11.

Parish Players Dinner, Theater Opens Tomorrow Night

The newly-organized Parish Players' production of Christopher Fry's "Boy With a Cart" will highlight dinner-theater parties at All Saints' Episcopal Church in Carmel tomorrow and Saturday evenings.

The scholarship funds of both Bishop Kip and York schools will benefit from the parties, plans for which are being coordinated by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Downes.

Hostesses for the candlelight and wine dinner preceding the play are Mrs. Downes, Mrs. James Neill, Mrs. Virginia Streeton, Mrs. Lewis Fenton, Mrs. Ralph Thompson and Mrs. A. Brooks Firestone.

Garrett Kaufman, A. Brooks Firestone and young Yates Downes are rehearsing for leading roles in the play, directed by Harry Rudinshiold. Also in the cast are Mrs. Robert White, Mr. and Mrs. John Converse, Nancy and Larry Upjohn, Peter Rand, Douglas Rodda, Twig Stevenson, Mrs. Beth Zanides, and John Roth.

Arrangements for the candlelight and wine dinners at which guests will have their choice of filet mignon, New York cut or lobster tail, are headed by Mrs. Reginald Church. Mrs. John Gosling is in charge of table decorations.

Peter Dyer will head the "roving chefs" who will supervise barbecue activities on the church patio. Tables for six each will be set in the dining room adjoining the patio.

A Sparkling Cocktail Party Honors Artists

Honoring artists whose works will appear in the Art Auction, a benefit for Beacon House, at the Mark Thomas Inn, May 17, the cocktail party, held in the lovely home of Mrs. Karl Frank on Sunday afternoon was a gay and colorful success.

Members of the Monterey County Committee on Alcoholism, who gave the party, greeted about 100 guests, with Mrs. Wesley Hurd, Mrs. Frank's co-hostess.

Assisting at the punch bowls, one sparkling with "Black Velvet" the other with a champagne and wine blend, with sparkle plus, were Mrs. Gordon E. Larson, Mrs. Richard Godfrey and Mrs. Fred W. May.

Carol and Harry Bruhn, popular folk singing duo from Livermore, entertained throughout the afternoon.

A special honor guest was Chaplain, U.S.A. Col. H. J. Kregal of Fort Ord, president of the Alcoholism Committee of Monterey Co.

Arnold Perl Play to Open At Circle April 11

"The World of Sholem Aleichem," which opens on Saturday evening, at the Golden Bough Circle Theater, brings back to the little arena playhouse many of the talents which made "Tevya and his Daughters" an outstanding success there just three years ago.

Like "Tevla," the new play was adapted by Arnold Perl from short stories by the great Jewish writer, Sholem Aleichem.

Both plays tell with humor and pathos about the life of the Jews in eastern Europe at the turn of the century. And several of the actors who played in "Tevya" will be seen again next week. Serge Hovey, composer of the incidental music, and Virginia LaVigne, costume designer, will also repeat their assignments.

Nick Zanides will stage "The World of Sholem Aleichem," with sets by Barbara Tripp. It will play on Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30, with matinees on Sundays at 3:00, through May 24. There will be no Friday performance on the night preceding the opening.

Journalist to Address Woman's Club Tuesday

James Montgomery, an overseas specialist in the field of Education and Journalism, will be guest speaker at the Christian Womens Club luncheon next Tuesday, at 12:15 at the La Playa Hotel.

Mr. Montgomery graduated from Wheaton College in Illinois and has an A.B. Degree in Journalism and an .A. in Christian Education. He has recently returned to the United States after five years in Formosa and the Philippine Islands.

An added feature of the afternoon will be "A Look at Gloves" with Vera Vogue Originals.

All women are invited to attend and may make reservations by telephoning Mrs. James Grooms, at 372-3198. A free baby nursery will be provided at the First Baptist Church of Monterey, Hawthorne and Hoffman.

Pottery Originals On Sale Tomorrow

An unusual sale of Carmel pottery, created by members of the Carmel Adult School pottery classes, will be held tomorrow and Saturday in Sunset School annex, Mission and Tenth.

The display will be in the upstairs room above the pottery workshop where the adult school art and designs classes are held and where Nancy Johnson teaches silk screen printing. Examples of the silk screen prints will be on display and for sale also.

Pots, planters, bowls, mugs and other decorative objects, most in high fire glazed pottery will be offered. Many of the unique pieces are the work of advanced students. All students are donating their work and proceeds of the sale will be used to purchase much needed equipment and reference books to be used in the class-rooms.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

"I liked the helicopter best," "I liked the seat ejector," "I liked the sailors." These were a few of the opinions expressed in thank you notes written by the young students at the Captain Cooper School, Big Sur, and addressed to William H. Craven, commanding officer of the Naval Air Facility, Monterey. The "notes" were of two pages—the cover, a colorful, crayon picture and inside hand lettered words of appreciation, were prepared the day following an impressive and happy field trip to the navy installation last Wednesday.

Accompanied by their teachers Mrs. Rowena Kelly and Mr. Conrad Selvig, the first through fourth grade classes of the Big Sur School, under the guidance of Lt. Comdr. Harold Becker, public information officer, the interested boys and girls were shown a mock helicopter rescue—a rescue similar to many accomplished in coastal waters. At the training station the great "chopper" hovered over two men and "rescued" them from the water. Then there was a close-up view of a jet plane, into the cockpit, a demonstration of the ejection system, a lecture on the operation of the weather station, the ground control approach, a "lecture" on the refresher course for pilots which teaches them blind flying, and two great parachutes were "packed" and later opened, to the amazement and delight of the assembled group.

Th day, which proved to be a memorable one, was largely arranged through Lawrence E. MacWhinney, fire chief at the Naval Air Facility, and a resident of Big Sur.

Fire Chief MacWhinney also recently had the pleasure of arranging a trip to the United States Navy Base at Alameda, which included 28 of his fellow fire chiefs from five counties. The occasion was a tour of the USS Coral Sea, Navy carrier CV 43. Fire Chief Robert Smith, Councilman Frank Putnam and City Comptroller Arthur Plaxton of Carmel were members of the group.

"Finian's Rainbow," the Broadway hit which played last weekend and will play again this weekend at Sunset School with a cast of Carmel High School students, boasts two players from Big Sur, Jori Hopkins, who plays the deaf girl, and Conrad Selvig, a leprechaun. At last Saturday's performance 30 residents of Big Sur were in the audience.

When the 17 students at one-room Palo Colorado School arranged an open house to display their new library books and equipment, following the recent school vacation ,they invited their parents, friends and a number of special guests. To their delight, there were many interested and appreciative visitors and they were especially honored by the presence of Superintendent of Schools Medill Bair and two members of the Board of Education, Mrs. Blanks and Mr. Neill. It was a usual school day, and classes were in session. As each guest arrived, Mrs. Nancy Bottero (teacher-principal) excused two students to act as host and hostess—together a very young student and an older one, offered cookies and refreshment, and then the guided tour of the new library addition began.

Talcott Speaks Out At Fairgrounds Rally

Congressman Burt L. Talcott told a rally attended by 450 people last Saturday at the Fairgrounds that he would be unable to be here in his district to do much campaigning because he will have to be in Washington to tend to the difficult task of legislation. For that reason, he said, he will have to depend on others to carry on the campaign here.

He said that he voted for the civil rights bill because he felt that it implemented the constitution. He said that he had been in many places in the south where Negroes couldn't vote, couldn't get a job and where they had to travel 400 miles betwen locations where they could use a restroom. "Something needed to be done for those people," he asserted, "and it needed to be done now. I believe strongly in states' rights, but I also believe in states' responsibilities, and they are equal."

Rep. Talcott added that he had insisted that banking theories be applied to foreign aid, even if no interest were available for the loans. At least, he asserted, the the projects should be investigated for feasibility before money is advanced.

And Where Are Those Little League Fathers?

Carmel Little League will not be able to open its season play on April 25, as scheduled, unless L.L. fathers turn out to get the playing field and grounds into shape, according to Barney Laiolo, league president. There is a great deal of work to do at the ballpark and only two more weekends in which to get it done. Saturday, April 11, and April 18, are scheduled as work days at the park. Fathers and older brothers too, should be there at 1 p.m., armed with carpenter and gardening tools.

If Carmel Little Leaguers are going to have a season, parents must cooperate. See you Saturday at the ballpark.

5 Reasons Why We Should Again

Elect GUNNAR NORBERG Councilman

1. TRUSTED — He is respected for fairness, integrity and honesty as a public servant.
2. EXPERIENCED — Norberg served as member of the City Council four years, 1958 to 1962.
3. PROVEN ABILITY — Norberg accomplished many good things while on the Council, notably his origination of the Carmel Arts and Carmel Forestry Commissions.
4. ECONOMY — Norberg is thrifty with the taxpayers' money and believes in strict economy in public spending.
5. BELIEFS — Norberg is dedicated to fighting for preservation of Carmel's traditional values—that of a non-commercial, culturally oriented community of homes.

If you feel as we do that residents of Carmel should have a voice on the City Council, VOTE for NORBERG on April 14th.

Earthquake Aid Movement Begun

A movement to aid the victims of the earthquake in Alaska was started here last week by two young ladies, employees of the Crocker Citizens Bank.

Miss Nancy Thomas of the bookkeeping department had the brainstorm and found a sympathetic ear immediately when she discussed it with Miss Melissa Taylor, who is a former resident of Juneau. Vice president Nick Hackenburger was also enthused, since he used to live in Fairbanks.

Last Tuesday a parcel containing 50 pounds of warm clothing, all contributed by members of the Crocker Citizens staff, was sent off with the bank paying for the substantial postage bill.

Those who would like to participate in this effort may either call the Pine Cone at 624-3881 or come by the office on Dolores between Seventh and Eighth.

New items of warm clothing are desperately needed, as well as small amounts of money to cover packaging. United Air Lines has volunteered to take the packages as far as Seattle, and is working on another airline to take them the rest of the way.

Warren Edwards, our principal, has been awarded a summer fellowship by the John Hay Fellowship program. Mr. Edwards and his family will travel across the country, and he will attend the summer institute in the humanities at either Bennington College or Williams College. Both schools are in New England.

In this program, the participants will read and discuss significant books, take courses in philosophy, literature, and history, and will attend lectures on music and art. No grades or credits will be given. The faculty will consist of six professors from several different colleges and universities. The director of the program, Dr. Charles R. Keller, said that more interest is being shown in the humanities across the nation.

Last week Carmel students were busy campaigning for student body and class offices. The candidates for office of president are Art Black and Jay Lang. Vice-presidential candidates are Bill Stowers and John Tracey. Lolita Concepcion is the only candidate for secretary. The treasurer is elected yearly in June. The following people are candidates for the commissioners: social affairs, Linda Kay Hudder and Pamm McClendon; girls' athletics, Pat Cornet and Cindy Flint; boys' athletics Bob Holmes; publicity Sue Simmons. Ten student body representatives at large will be elected from among the following candidates: Steve Arnon, Bob Cater, Kathy Goulding, Sue Herzberg, Jim Miller, Daphne Myers, Al Nishimura, Jim Purvis, Susie Rennels, Ray Rhodes, Bud Smith, Rick Wilkerson and Martha Williams.

Each class elects three representatives. The candidates for senior class representative are Sandy Aebersold, Willa Gerber, Jerri Harrison and Toshia Seeders. Junior class candidates include Kathy Burkett and Betty Haak. The sophomore candidates are Sheila Bobbs, Jo Ann Miller, Connie Norwick, Barbara Pearson, and Nancy Thompson.

Carmel Loses a Dedicated Citizen

Elizabeth Kynaston, director of nursing at Community Hospital, died last Friday after a period of failing health.

"Her dedication to nursing was an inspiration to all who were privileged to know her. She was held in affectionate regard and high esteem by everyone," Administrator Thomas E. Tonkin said.

Miss Kynaston was the number one staff member at the hospital where she worked for 30 years.

Born Sept. 14, 1901 at Victoria, British Columbia, Canada, she joined the staff at Community Hospital Aug. 29, 1934.

She lived in Carmel with her sister, Barbara Kynaston, secretary to Samuel F. B. Morse, chairman of the board of Del Monte Properties. Miss Kynaston spent many happy hours gardening at the cottage which was not far from the old hospital building.

She was a graduate of Santa Clara County Hospital at San Jose.

As director of nursing, she headed a staff of 100 registered nurses, nurses aides and licensed vocational nurses.

After seven years of general staff duty at Community Hospital, she became director of nursing in 1941. She spent many hours in consultation during the planning phase of the new hospital on Carmel Hill.

Once when asked why she was a nurse, she said: "I like to see patients get well."

Extremely proud of her profession, she spoke with enthusiasm about the many recent advancements in medicine.

"It is a tribute to doctors that they can cope with so much knowledge," she once said, "but patients are still patients and bedside care rendered by nurses is more important than ever."

Survivors, in addition to her sister, Barbara, are another sister, Miss Nancy Kynaston, and a brother, Robert Kynaston, both of San Jose.

Those wishing to honor her memory have been asked by relatives to do so in the form of donations to the Elizabeth Kynaston Memorial Fund at Community Hospital, Box HH, Carmel, or the All Saints Episcopal Church of Carmel.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning at the All Saints Episcopal Church in Carmel with Rev. David Hill officiating.

White Oaks Auditions For Summer Season

Singers, actors and dancers have been auditioned for the 1964 summer session of Carmel Valley's White Oaks Theater. Other auditions in San Francisco and Los Angeles are to follow.

White Oaks, now in its sixth year, is a non-profit Theater and Training Center for young people interested in a career in the theater — especially musical theater. During the coming season White Oaks will offer to the 20 selected resident company members, plus additional singers, a wide range of learning and experience.

The four major productions will be presented are: Sandy Wilson's "The Boy Friend"; "The Three Penny Opera"; "The Pajama Game," and a concert of Menotti's "Unicorn, Manticore, and Gorgon" with Stravinsky's "L'Histoire de Soldat." Also, "Rumpelstilskin" will be given as the Children's Theater matinee attraction.

The Menotti and Stravinsky works, which will be performed four times Sept. 10 to 13, require a chorus which White Oaks plans to obtain from this area. Rehearsals for the chorus will take place throughout the summer at hours that will not interfere with work or summer school, and no acting experience is required.

For further information regarding these auditions please call or write the theater.

New Show At Carmel Art Association Gallery

A new showing of works by active members opened yesterday at the Carmel Art Association Galleries.

A one-man show of works by Willington Yuan was hung at the same time in the Beardsley Room for three weeks.

Beginning April 29, the Beardsley Room will be given over to rental pictures. Pat Casey and John Cunnnigham are in charge of arrangements. The Board of Directors will meet next Monday, in the Assn. Gallery. Beth Garcia has been appointed as a new member of the board, replacing Virginia Fry.

"Expression of Two Arts" At P. G. Auditorium

Charles Weidman, one of America's great contemporary dancers, will appear on the Peninsula on Thursday, April 23, at the Pacific Grove Junior High School Auditorium. He will share with the young artist, Mikhail Santaro, a full evening's program entitled, "An Expression of Two Arts."

The joint appearances of Weidman and Santaro have received high praise in New York, where they have their own theatre, and on tour throughout the country. The relationships between calligraphy and choreography are explored by the two artists in an entirely original way.

As a unique blend of painting and dancing, "An Expression of Two Arts," is an especially appropriate offering for its local sponsors, the Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts.

Weidman has been linked with such other illustrious names in the dance world as Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn, his early mentors, and Jose Limon, one of his outstanding pupils. New York Times dance critic John Martin ranks Weidman as one of the four top modern dancers of his generation, along with his long-time partner, Doris Humphrey, Helen Tamiris, and the inimitable Martha Graham.

"Weidman's dance is altogether distinctive from that of any of his colleagues," writes Martin in his book, "The Dance." "He works best in terms of movement that derives from pantomime. Sometimes it is dramatic, sometimes it is poignant. Most frequently, however, it is either gaily comic or devastatingly satirical, for he has a wonderful gift for observing and visualizing the vagaries of men and manners."

Tickets for "An Expression of Two Arts," may be obtained at Abinante's, the Central Box Office, Dyke's Grove Pharmacy, and the A.F.A. Gallery, Carmel.

Arts and Literature

REVIEWED BY HARRY WELLESLEY FLETCHER

Artist Gerald Wasserman chats with Dr. Friedy Heisler and Francis Heisler at last Satuday's preview party for his current show in the Camel Rancho Shopping Center's Community Room. The show is open to the public through May 4.

A. F. A. Presents Wasserman Art Show

Gerald Wasserman's new art show opened with a lively preview party for approximately 400 guests last Saturday, in the new Community Room at Carmel Rancho. The show is now open to the public and may be seen on week days between 9:00 and 4:30 (except for the noon hour); also Saturdays between 1:00 and 4:30, when the artist will be on hand.

On view are 19 paintings and eight pieces of sculpture (the latter a new departure for the artist).

A resident of the Monterey Peninsula for the past 18 years, artist Wasserman has shown his work in many of the West's outstanding galleries including Los Angeles' Ankrum Gallery, San Francisco's Edward Quill Gallery, and the Haggin Memorial Museum in Stockton. During his European travels, he also exhibited his paintings at the Galerie Rene Drouet and the Galerie Prestige des Arts in Paris. He is a member of the Carmel Art Association.

The show will remain open to the public at Carmel Rancho Shopping Center's Community Room (across from Secuity National Bank), Carmel Valley, through May 4.

Violin Concert at M.P.C. Free to Public on April 17

Austin Reller, violinist, will appear at Monterey Peninsula College Friday, April 17, Miss Angie Machado of the MPC Music Department announced today.

The young artist, whom Miss Machado met when he was at Fort Ord for his military training in 1962, will begin his program at 8:30 p.m. in the MPC Music Hall. The public is invited to attend without charge.

Soon after leaving the Peninsula, Reller appeared as a guest artist in three concerts with the San Francisco Symphony. Last year, as recipient of an Alfred Hertz Award from the University of California, he was in Europe, giving concerts in France, Germany, and Norway. In Oslo, he appeared as soloist with the Oslo Philharmonic under the direction of Maestro Blomstedt. He will return from Paris to his home in Berkeley this month.

Reller received most of his violin instruction from Naoum Blinder, concertmaster emeritus of the San Francisco Symphony. While in Europe, he studied with Mlle. Nadia Boulanger. His April 17 program will include works by Brahms, Bach, Schonberg, Webern, Paganini, and Saint-Saens. He will be accompanied by Nathan Schwarz.

SILENT BLESSING

The first violet
blesses this cottage and Spring
(a pulse beat in the heart of time) returns to lift my thought again . . .

RICHARD CAYTON

BACK OF A FLOWER

Take a flower unfolded to color in its own perfume of grace:
back of a flower is a heavenly power in its immediate race with the hour; then it fades, as a child stumbles into woman —
and each, with transition in slower pace, of seed not lost!

BARBARA O. MORAW
Palo Alto, California.

NOSTALGIA

My heart lifts for a moment
as remembrance comes of my childhood feelings
I recall so well;
when I looked at the green beauty and felt the stillness of the woods.
It was mine alone,
this fairylike miracle of nature.

JEANIE CLARK

YOUTH

So green my Spring — life entered a second phase at sight of nature's vert exuberance;
leaves heart-shaped, long-shafted, fluted;
verdant meadows resplendent in jewels
tossed out by dragonflies;
stems of uncurling fern, of maidenhair, and reed;
the mossy pillow on which I drowsed.
As linnets rehearsed a midday madrigal,
I roused and with them sang the chlorophyll coursing through my veins.

FARE THE WELL

My heart responds to the long-drawn sigh
Of the tide-wash, ebbing endlessly
Down through the dark, brown mussel buds
Encrusting the rocky quay
That guards the harbor's security;
And gleams in the sunlit aftermath
Of riotous, surging sea; —
While on the horizon a white sail dips
A gay adieu to anchored ships;
And land-locked mariners, such as I.

GRACE M. BALLARD
Santa Barbara, California.

THREE MIRRORS

Mirrors reveal the mood they see.
Without, the stream reflects the reeds.
The inner pair press against my knee.
A lonely sunray gleams on slender blades,
That stretch distorted images of grass,
Then it enters my room and highlights
Mirrors, truer than finest glass:
Convex lenses that shine with hope and love.
They do not flatter or magnify.
The trembling reeds fade into dusk,
As unconcerned the river rushes by;
But my dog's eyes are beacons of hope.

THEY SAY

Something deep in the mud turned and struggled to lift itself into the light . . . and life began.

THEDA LENORE POBST

AGE OF A TREE

When ages shadow rises through the mist
On great grey weighted years,
The bowing boughs press down
Now brown within the green.

Quiet fleeing like the morn
Into a distant, greener world
The glory of a silent age
Calls softly to the fading wind.

HERBERT LEE CLARK

ROBINS' THIRD BIRTHDAY

You drink wood elves' sassafras tea
Ride pirate boats on a licorice sea
Climbing Jack's skytop-beanstalk hill
You engineer trains through rains' windowsill
You possess titles to dogs and cars
Laughter is yours—a swing to stars
Floating on clouds of make believe
Through tulip pollen pixies weave.
The child I was whispers abstractly
I was Alice holding the golden key
Unlocking the dike to an emerald sea
Where no clocks' chime could summon me.
When you reach earth's adult floor
A tiptoeing fairy closes the door
To boy blue's sheep and Mary's lamb
But now you're in magic where no doors slam.

MARY ANN PUTMAN
Seattle 16, Washington

THE SEA

The sea is choppy, the sea is rough,
The sea has whitecaps that rush and puff.
Whitecaps are phantoms that surface and skim
Over the water, now brilliant, now dim.

The sea holds spirits, the sea holds ghosts.
It is a haven to the life it hosts.
A giver of treasure, a taker of toll,
With sure changing tides as waves swell and roll.

The sea is a friend, the sea is a tyrant;
The sea can be tranquil, or sonorously vibrant.
Like life, surging onward, bright, wond'rous and free;
Like death, fast ebbing, dark, sombre — the sea.

India's Ancient Sculptures Exhibited at De Young

San Francisco will be the first city in the Western Hemisphere to host the showing of "Ancient Sculpture from India," an exhibition of Indian national treasure which will be held at the M. H. de Young Memorial Museum in Golden Gate Park, beginning Friday, May 29 and continuing through July 19, 1964, from 10 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., seven days a week.

The exhibition, representing the aesthetic and cultural development of a large segment of the world's population, consists mostly of rare works never before shown here. The impressive selection of stone and terra cotta sculpture and pottery spanning 5,000 years of Indian art is lent by the National Museums of India under the auspices of the Indian Ministry of Education. Works included were originally parts of temples or other religious monuments and date from the Dravidian civilization of the Indus Valley which flourished from 3000 B.C. until 1500 B.C., when it was destroyed by the Aryan invasion from the north. The next millennium, the Vedic period, produced a synthesis of the religions of these two early cultures out of which grew the great Hundu religious art so richly illustrated in this exhibition.

Also well represented are the offshoots of the Hindu tradition, Buddhism that dominated Indian thought from the third century B.C. to the fifth century, A.D., and Jainism founded by a contemporary of Buddha.

In San Francisco the exhibition is sponsored by the de Young Museum Society. It will be augmented here by a selection of Indian Miniature Paintings from West Coast Collections, an exhibition shown under the auspices of the Society for Asian Art.

Following its close in the de Young Museum July 19, "Ancient Sculpture from India" will be shown in the Seattle Art Museum; the Cleveland Museum of Art; the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City; and the Honolulu Academy of Arts, before being returned to India.

Shakespeare Plays Seen Free In San Francisco

San Francisco will have a free public Shakespearean theatre this summer, the city's Recreation and Park Department has announced.

It will be the second of its kind in the United States, being patterned after a free Shakespeare program in Central Park, New York.

All performances will be by a professional Shakespeare acting company whose members are now being recruited. The project, supported by civic-minded individuals and organizations, will be entirely dependent on donations, gifts, memberships and bequests.

A six-week summer season in Golden Gate Park's Hall of Flowers will be followed by a tour of local junior and senior high schools during the fall and winter season. The season will start June 24 with "Taming of the Shrew," followed at two-week intervals by "Hamlet" and "Merry Wives of Windsor." Each production will be seen Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, and Saturday and Sunday matinees over a two-week period.

Father-Daughter Dinner A Festive Success

Never in the history of local Scouting has there been such a group of happy fathers and bright-eyed young daughters as those present at the Girl Scout and Brownie annual Father-Daughter Dinner, held Friday evening in the Junior High Auditorium!

Welcoming the guests with the "Hello Song" were Claudia Spencer and Mary Beth White, from troop 2121. The flag ceremony was led by Cadette troop 2158. Carmel Senior Scouts Susanne Herring and Patricia Aldrich gave the Invocation.

Each family brought their own favorite entree and dining was a jolly affair. Mrs. Richard W. Bell, as master of ceremonies, welcomed the fathers and mothers on behalf of the girls and leaders.

Telling of the good deeds and community services performed by the Brownies and Scouts, was Mrs. Philip Pedro, field advisor of District II. Delegate from the Village Neighborhood, at the Monterey Girl Scout council, Milton Thompson paid tribute to all the Carmel troop leaders.

Mrs. C. E. Welchner led the girls in song tribute to their fathers and the not-to-be-out-sung fathers serenaded their daughters.

Harry Coss gave a fathers' testimony; he commended the Girl Scout organization and told the group what it meant to him to have his daughter in Scouting.

Mrs. H. Smith's troop 2063, followed on the program, singing "Johnny Vorpeck" and Halla Hi," accompanied by Alesa Smith on guitar. Girl Scout Laws were recited by Mrs. D. Childers' troop 2069. Led by father Rick Masten, troop 2035 sang and jumped rope to the "Jump Rope Song."

The second half of the evening was underway with troop 2118 performing "The Merry Go 'Round" and Brownie troop 2121 cheerfully sang the "Brownie Smile Song!" Mrs. P. Nash's troop 2080 gave the Brownie Promise. The story of "The Flag We Made" was told by Brownie Randy Smith, whose troop 2114, made their own American flag.

An amusing ditty, "Charlie on the MTA," was aptly sung by Senior Scouts Pat Aldrich and Susanne Herring and the evening concluded with Mrs. M. Appleton's Brownie troop 2084, forming the "Friendship Circle," and each girl making a wish.

Girl Scout Jerri Masten gives her father, "Rick" Masten his boutonniere and final pat before the Father-Daughter Dinner.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone

Dear Editor:

A highly significant milestone on the conservation history trail of California has just been passed to the great relief of all California lovers.

I refer to the recent pronouncement of Governor Brown upon his return from an investigative tour of the Redwoods in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco and of the Prairie Creek Redwood Reserves in Humboldt County in which the Governor asserted that: "As long as I am Governor of California, not a single solitary Redwood will be cut down for a freeway."

Surely, such pronouncement has an especially welcome ring for all of us of Monterey County, with our own redwood possessions on the one hand, and an area subject to the greedy eye of Highway Commission with its ulterior designs on our incomparable Coast Highway, on the other.

Of especial interest to us of the Coast Area is the realization that those working the hardest to bring the Governor to his present appreciation of the pricelessness of nature's gifts to our State and our area, are two folk well known to us.

One, Newton B. Drury, Secretary of the Save The Redwoods League who as Park Commissioner of the State of California, consummated the deal that made Point Lobos the State Monument that it now is.

The other is Mareret W. Owings of Wild Bird, Big Sur, presently the State Park Commissioner recently having done valiant battle with the Redwood Empire Association in its support of the Highway Commission's proposed spoilation of the Prairie Creek reserves and others.

Credit should be publicly accorded these two valiant battlers of ours for the new meaning that such State policy will have for our own locally, as well as all other invaluable natural resources of our wonderful California, subject to the Highway Commission's mundane interpretation of "progress."

We believe that the Pine Cone might honour itself by honouring these fine two citizens who have done so much for our area in the past and whose great interest is in our future.

Very truly,
C. AUSTIN DE CAMP

GRANT—"We must define the questions that confront Carmel before we offer answers."

HAZDOVAC— He asserted that he was a longtime resident of the area, never having been anywhere else for longer than one year.

NORBERG—"What we need to seek in a councilman is some modicum of wisdom . . . I am a dissenter."

SCHEFFLER—"I am in favor of trees, because birds like trees. I am in favor of cats, because cats chase birds. I am in favor of dogs, because dogs chase cats. I am in favor of people, because dogs like people, and people vote, I hope, for me."

PHELPS—Stressed his interest in retaining the residential character of Carmel.

BAYLESS— "Being unopposed, my best campaign speech is to stand up and shut up, but I will be pleased to answer questions."

COLEMAN — Emphasized his lengthy experience as city treasurer here and in King City, as well as his 40 years banking experience.

HILBERT — Stressed that he was formerly city treasurer for 16 years..

RUSKELL — Dealt at great length with his participation in civic affairs.

At this point each of the candidates for the city council was asked four questions supplied by the Carmel Citizens Committee: 1) If elected, would you work to limit the size and bulk of buildings in the business district? 2) Would you work to control tourism, the number of hotels, motels, and liquor outlets? 3) How do you feel about annexation? 4) Do you think that two of Carmel's city councilmen should not be businessmen? (The first two of the questions are taken nearly word for word from the statement of objectives of the citizens group.) The candidates answered thusly:

Whittlesey — 1) This is more complicated than I first believed, but I will continue to work toward it. 2) We have as many, and probably more, motels as are good for us. 3) Yes, gradually, but not too much at one time. 4) This is a dangerous generalization, but I've been concerned that more residents do not make themselves available.

Danysh—1) Not only size and bulk, but character. 2) Limiting, yes. 3) Don't know. 4) Question is subtle indictment of the businessman. It depends upon the man.

Grant—1) Yes. 2) Not in controlling tourism, but motels, yes. 3) Yes, but it needs study. 4) What is a businessman?

Hazdovac—1) This is the problem of the planning commission. 2) We have a business district, let's keep it so. 3) Yes, but it must be initiated from without. 4) Certainly not; anybody can take out papers and it's up to the electorate.

Norberg—1) Most affirmatively. 2) Yes, most certainly. 3) I favor it. 4) There should be 4¼ councilmen who have no business interest.

Scheffler — 1) Very definitely. 2) I do indeed. 3) Qualified yes. 4)There shouldn't be any businessmen in Carmel.

All candidates agreed that Sunset School should be purchased, particularly under the present proposal for financing.

City Clerk Hugh Bayless was asked to comment on the recent dismissal of a city employee. He said that while this would normally be an internal matter, the employee herself had made it public. He added that her work had been less than satisfactory for the past six months, and when she was "called on the carpet," she refused to accept any criticism whatever. She was a temporary employee, never having been confirmed by the city council, he said. She declined an opportunity to resign, he stated.

Colonel Austin DeCamp then brought up the matter of the alleged mishandling of city affairs under the tenure of Larry Rose. When pressed, he asked the councilman candidates to state what measures they would have taken to prevent such events. Gunnar Norberg stated that he would have "given the man 30 days to clean up the mess, then fired him."

Questioned by Mrs. Green Chapman from the audience as to how he proposed to fire an elected official, Norberg answered that it could be done through a conflict of interest clause. Mayor Whittlesey pointed out that the council had no power to remove an elected official, and that the conflict of interest clause applied only to councilmen.

PUTNAM DECLINES

Referring to a published report that he was the subject of a write-in campaign for the office of city clerk, Councilman Frank Putnam told the PINE CONE this morning that, "I definitely do not want the job. I am not soliciting votes and I don't want people to vote for me. Certainly I stated that I would accept the job if elected. Any patriotic citizen must accept a position if elected."

● Doublethink

disposed to argue, so the meeting continued.

The council then gave second reading and adoption to an ordinance bringing the transient lodging tax into conformity with the model ordinance of the California League of Cities, and to another measure permitting narrower sidewalks on Junipero between Fourth and Fifth.

In an effort to reduce the accident toll, the council decided to stop east/west traffic at Mission & Fifth, and to stop southbound traffic on Junipero at Sixth. Both measures will replace "yield" signs which have not worked out.

City Attorney John Morse was instructed to prepare an ordinance embodying all the recommendations of the mayor's blue-ribbon committee, selected to modify the uniform electrical code, to conform to Carmel's needs. The previously used code has not been updated since 1956. Members of the committee will also receive a note of appreciation from the city for their efforts.

In other matters, the council:

Confirmed the employment of the bond counselors for the Sunset School purchase.

Noted that Pacific Telephone is seeking a rate increase from the Public Utilities Commission.

Agreed to seek a volunteer to serve as city historian, at the suggestion of the PINE CONE.

tradition feel a heavy responsibility.

It would be a great tragedy and an irreplaceable loss to future residents of our community if this valuable record were lost. For this reason, I humbly request that the governing body of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea appoint a city historian who will record for future generations the important information which may be gleaned from the files of this paper, together with whatever other sources are available. You may be assured that we of the Pine Cone will do all in our power to aid in this endeavor.

Respectfully yours,

It was pointed out that the reward for the endeavor will be the satisfaction of taking part in this important work. Those interested should contact the City Clerk.

Monterey Artist Wins Added Painting Honors

New national honors have just been accorded artist Ralph Jacobs of Monterey, whose paintings are a feature of the current art gallery show at Villa Montalvo, Saratoga.

After winning first prize for the second consecutive year in the annual statewide art exhibition at Santa Cruz, and second place in the Society of Western Artists annual exhibit at de Young Art Museum in San Francisco, Jacobs has been invited by the Council of American Artists' Societies to exhibit his prize-winning painting at Lever House in New York City.

"Since the invitation is sent only to outstanding prize winners, this is considered a great national honor for young Jacobs," announces Mildred Kaucher, chairman of the Montalvo Art Gallery Committee, and an artist in her own right.

Jacobs, whose paintings will occupy two galleries at Villa Montalvo through April 30, has won numerous awards in various other exhibits and one-man shows. He is one of the few young artists who make their living solely from the sales of their art without income from other sources.

Considered one of California's most outstanding young portrait painters at 24, Jacobs' work is described as "high key" or vibrant in color, imparting strong impact on viewers, explains Miss Kaucher.

Villa Montalvo galleries are open free to the public Tuesday through Sunday, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Beaux Arts Ball To Be Held May 23

It's that time of year again—almost. The American Federation of Arts annual Beaux Arts Ball date has been set for May 23 and general chairman, Mrs. Hugh Dormody (Florence of boundless energy) is coordinating committees right now.

With her co-chairman, Mrs. William Arnold, Mrs. Dormody is seeking out the "workers." Roger and Andre Hope and Mrs. Calvin Wheeler form the committee responsible for decorations. Lucille Rae has taken on the real chore of dispensing tickets.

The evening will start at 7:30 with dinner; dancing will start at nine o'clock and go on until one. "And the big news," Mrs. Dormody tells, "is that we will dance to the tunes of Niel Armstrong's orchestra. Where? In the Agricultural Building of Monterey County Fairgrounds. Begin to think costume now, the madder the merrier!"

Stephen Arnon of CHS Wins in Zone Contest

Stephen Arnon, Carmel High School senior, was one of the four zone winners in the Bank of America Achievement Awards Contest held last Tuesday in Salinas.

Stephen is a major in liberal arts. He will now advance to the Achievement Awards finals in Fresno May 27, to compete with winners from five other zones in the central counties.

Should Stephen win in the Fresno finals he will be awarded $1,000. His zone victory assures him a minimum award of $150.

Stephen is the son of University of California's Prof. Daniel Arnon and Mrs. Arnon. He was born in Berkeley and came to Carmel in 1963 to attend Carmel High School. During this year's first semester Stephen was president of the school's student body.

An ardent hiker and climber and member of the Sierra Club he spent his Easter holidays in the Hawaiian Islands with a mountain climbing group of the club members.

Stephen will return to Berkeley to live after graduation from Carmel High in June; he is currently a house guest of the Gordon MacKenzies.

Carol Keener and Chard Witherspoon of Monterey High School and Phyllis Kirby of Arroyo Grande Union High School, made up the quartet of first place winners in Tuesday's zone contest.

Parties To Precede Parish Players Opening

With the debut of the All Saints Church Parish Players scheduled for tomorrow night, and with a candle light and wine dinner preceding the performance of Christopher Fry's "Boy With a Cart," many parties are planned and the tables for six, both Friday and Saturday performances are becoming scarce.

Hosting dinner parties tomorrow night will be Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pearce, the James Neils, Col. and Mrs. George Vaughn; Mrs. James Downey; Mrs. Agnes Trumbly and the Walter Lehmanns. Mrs. Harriet Meyer will hostess a table including Mrs. Charles Leachman, Mrs. Ernest Leffingwell, Miss Elizabeth Crofton, Miss Esther Williams and Miss Elizabeth White.

Also planning parties are the Rev. David Hill and Mrs. Hill; Rev. Peter Farmer and Mrs. Farmer; Rev. H. M. M. Nicholas and Mrs. Nicholas and Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Wilson.

Additional hosts will be Col. Randall W. Barton, U.S.A. Retd.; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dyer; Dr. Seeley Mudd, Douglas Graham and Dr. Girard Martin; the Lewis Fentons and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Page have a table for four; Mrs. Jane Campbell will play hostess to her five sons. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thompson, the Howard Bucquets and the H. R. Fonsecas have a table for six. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Downes will be there to cheer for their young son Yates in the play's leading role.

Tender Trap At The Studio Theater

Doing their best with a frothy bit of comedy, the experienced cast at the Studio Theater had rather hard going to make a full evening's entertainment out of the Max Shulman and Robert Smith offering, "The Tender Trap."

When a married man, besieged by children's dentist bills and the little wife's urge for wall-to-wall carpet the neat little home somewhere in the middle west, gets back to "good old New York" and into the apartment of his old pal, there's pretty sure to be hanky-panky.

The married man is played by Clifford Berry, and no Studio Theater regular could ask for anything more. Mr. Berry, with his assured professional eclat gives an excellent performance of the true-blue husband who just might stray.

Ray Cadena as the bachelor host is the devilishly handsome young wolf who really doesn't do wrong, he just beats the damsels off with a club that must be very soft, because said ladies keep bouncing back for more.

Laddy Kratty, Cathy Balk, Leonora de Heer and Bettie Steele are, each in their own beguiling way, New York sirens each doing their best to trap their man.

Of course there's a nobl young man, too. Played by Tim Boone, he takes no fooling from his girl. She makes up her mind fast, that a scientist on the stodgy side really tops a playboy when it comes to 'for keeps.'

"Tender Trap" is sophisticated fun. The set by Nick Le Feuvre, Jr., is quite stunning.

Director Ig Heniford has done a really fine job with a slight script, nicely saved by expert pacing, modish costuming and the on-stage enthusiasm that one always expects and always finds in Studio Theater productions. —C.E.

The night nobody showed up

It happens at every community meeting. People with valuable opinions never show up. Result: inaction on needed city improvements.

Your active interest in local government makes possible constructive civic improvements—better fire-fighting equipment, schools, water and sewerage facilities, parks and streets. And the money for these improvements usually comes from municipal bonds. Bonds distribute the cost over an extensive period to keep taxes at a reasonable level. The interest on municipal bonds is determined by competitive bidding to give your community the lowest rate under prevailing bond market conditions.

You owe it to yourself to know what's best for your town and to make your opinions known when it counts! Your property values will reflect the resultant benefits.

Teachers, Parents Pay Tribute to O'Connell

The Carmel Elementary Parent Teachers' Association recently awarded their annual life membership to another active contributor to the education of youth in the Carmel community.

Richard O'Connell, Principal of River School, came to the peninsula eight years ago from a principalship in Tracy, after having served as a classroom teacher. He has a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of California and a Master's from U.C.L.A.

In the few years that he has been in Carmel, Mr. O'Connell has served as principal of all three elementary schools and has been most active in promoting the safety, welfare, and opportunity for the finest possible education for all young children in our area.

The teachers who have come into Carmel from other school districts and the substitutes who work at River School, are eager to express their delight in being called upon to serve at that school. To quote some of them: "There is the most wonderful spirit of comradeship and exchange of ideas among the teachers here" and "I've never taught in a school where the children are getting so much from so many dedicated teachers."

The teachers who have served under his leadership, for several years now, are quick to acknowledge that their enthusiasm and wonderful feeling toward their work and the children, is due greatly to the relationship and friendship of the man the PTA chose to honor this year—Richard O'Connell.

The Lansdownes Are Back Home, To Stay

Arrived in Carmel Valley and happily settling down in their home in Rancho Rio, after an extended stay in Europe are Capt. and Mrs. F. M. Lansdowne, USN (Mary Agnes Grigsby). Their star visitor this summer will be their son, Zachary Fenton Lansdowne who is a junior at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

On the Dean's list and on a four-year grant at M.I.T., he has been elected to Tau Beta Nu, national honorary engineering fraternity and Eta Kappa Nu, honorary electronics fraternity.

Although "Zach" wasn't born in Carmel he has, since a tiny boy, been a frequent visitor in the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Fenton Grigsby.

The Lansdownes have owned their Valley property for about 21 years, wishing through two decades they might "settle down."

Republican Candidate Luncheon Guest Friday

Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, former actor George Murphy will be the guest speaker tomorrow at a luncheon given by the Monterey County Republican Women at the Mark Thomas Hotel. Presidents of the various Women's Republican Committees of the County who will be present are Mrs. Rody Holt of Carmel, luncheon chairman; Mrs. Vera Moffet, Monterey Peninsula; Mrs. Lucille Mosse, Salinas and Mrs. Sara Robbins, Seaside.

STEPHEN A. (STEVE) GRANT

Below is my record for voters to consider when they cast their votes for Carmel City Council on Tuesday, April 14. I am a candidate, out to win a seat on the Council.

Stephen A. Grant so much wanted to be a citizen of Carmel that he asked the city to annex the lot on which his home is located at Valley View and Highway One, and, for the first time in 46 years, a petition for annexation to Carmel was granted.

Consequently, since the summer of 1962, he has lived within the city limits. However, he has been a visitor to and a permanent resident of the area much longer.

He is running for city council because he wants the charm of Carmel preserved and realizes that means progress must be met with analysis and action.

A life and health underwriter for Prudential Insurance, Mr. Grant is a member of the President's Club and is ranked by the company as a leader among the Prudential "pros" in the United States and Canada, according to a company release.

He was born in Washington, D.C. 53 years ago when his father was secretary to a U.S. Senator from Oregon. His father previously held the same position when the Senator was Governor of Oregon.

After obtaining a B.A. degree in industrial management at Auburn University in Alabama, Stephen Grant did postgraduate work in the same field at Georgia Institute of Technology and Stanford University's school of business administration, then studied at Georgetown University's school of international relations.

He is a World War II and Korean War veteran.

During the 13 years he was on active duty with the U.S. Army, he rose from the rank of private to lieutenant colonel, attended the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and studied Chinese Mandarin at the Army Language School in Monterey.

His Army experience included parachute and special forces infantry troop command, staff work in training, plans, operations, intelligence, public information and school instruction, also as organization and methods examiner in the comptroller's office at Fort Benning in organization analysis, materials handling, plant and office layout and work simplification.

During his college years, Stephen Grant worked as a salesman in advertising, real estate, and insurance. He also sold restaurant supplies and printing ink and was a credit investigator for Sears, Roebuck and Co. in Atlanta, Georgia, and San Francisco.

From 1958-62 he was a fund raising counsel or campaign director and worked with a paid organization of of up to 12 persons and a volunteer organization of up to 2,000 people while raising sums up to $4 million for colleges and hospitals, by means of short-term intensive campaigns.

In this area, Stephen Grant's active Boy Scout work includes being leader of Troop 86, Carmel. Since 1959 he has been member-at-large of Peninsula District, Monterey Bay Area, Boy Scouts of America.

He is a vestryman and licensed lay reader of All Saints' Episcopal Church; on the board of directors of the Leukemia Society; and a member of Carmel American Legion Post, Carmel Business Association, Pacheco Club, Carmel High Twelve Club and F. and A.M.

In 1956, Stephen Grant married Mrs. Ann Hackbarth, the widowed daughter of the late Roy Martin of Carmel Valley who was a member of the family which pioneered the Mission Ranch ovr a century ago. They have two sons, Patrick, six, and Robert four years old.

Another member of the family is Mrs. Grants' son, John Hackbarth, who is studying forestry at Oregon State College.
